Plane crash on Barker Mt. claims four young lives

After getting word that a small plane had crashed in Newry on the Bethel side of Barker Mountain, area emergency personnel went to the Bethel Airport to organize what they thought at the time might be a rescue effort. Above, a Bethel Fire Department truck leaves the airport with an ATV, headed for the crash site (just out of this photo—see arrow). Lower left, standing at Med-Care's communications vehicle, responders discuss how to get to the site. At the left of the group, looking up at Barker Mountain are Doug and Denny Wilson, who were familiar with the area from having logged and constructed roads there. The Wilsons later helped guide responders to the site.

No cause yet in accident Thursday that killed pilot and three Jr. A.F. R.O.T.C. students from Lewiston

By ALISON ALOISIO

Last Thursday afternoon, pilot Chris Merrill and his wife, Diane, were in his hangar at the Bethel airport.

They watched two small planes taking off and landing. The pilots were taking teenagers up for introductory flying lessons. It was about 2 p.m.

"Each group would go up for about 15 minutes," Diane said.

Around 2:30, listening to the airport radio traffic, Diane heard one of the pilots repeatedly calling for the other.

"He kept calling," she said. "But there was no response."

By about 3 p.m. the pilot was searching for his partner, and a third pilot from the same air service, Twin Cities of Auburn, had flown up to help, Diane said.

At 3:15 Chuck Romans, who was also with the Merrills, looked up toward Barker Mountain and saw white smoke. Chris and Romans immediately took to the air in Chris' plane.

They had to circle the densely wooded mountainside several times before they spotted the plane on the ground.

"It was burning," Chris said.

among the four young people on the Cessna 172. They included pilot Charlie Weir, 24, of Twin Cities Air Service in Auburn, and his three students, Nick Babcock, 17, Teisha Loesberg, 17, and Shannon Fortier, 15.

The students were members of the Lewiston High School Air Force Junior ROTC program. About 30 of them had been at Bog Brook in Gilead for a week of training that included introductory flight lessons.

At about 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, after a difficult uphill hike, a rescue crew reached the crash site, in Newry, and found the bodies.

It was decided then to wait until Friday to recover them. Deputies from the Oxford County Sheriff's Dept. stayed near the scene overnight to ensure it would be secure, according to Bethel Fire Chief Jim Young.

On Friday representatives from the Federal Aviation Administration and the National Transportation Safety Board arrived to investigate the crash. They gathered information through much of the day.

The bodies were carried out in the late afternoon ear-

Local woods knowledge and skills played a key role in response efforts

By ALISON ALOISIO

There were a lot of volunteers there to do whatever they could," said Doug Wilson, who last week helped find the plane in which four young people died.

What would become a recovery effort started Thursday with local pilot Chris Merrill and his friend Chuck Romans.

After spotting smoke on the side of Barker Mountain, they took to the air and found the missing plane. Merrill reported its location by radio to the pilot's partner.

When the Dispatch call for rescuers went out (see sidebar), Newry and Bethel fire department members, area ambulance services, and law enforcement officers responded to the Bethel Airport. So did other volunteers who were familiar with the heavily wooded area, such as Vern Davis and Rick Angevine.

"They've hunted up there for years," said Bethel Fire Chief Jim Young.

The search organizers decided the best way to get to the crash site was off the Daisy Bryant Road, about a mile beyond the airport.

The first crew to reach the site included Wilson and Fabian Corriveau of D.A. Wilson Co. and Bethel EMT/firefighters Jim Bennett and Mike Bennett.

Wilson's company built the

Housing sought for cast and crew of August Performing Arts Festival

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Organizers of the upcoming Maine Performing Arts Festival in Bethel are looking for local folks willing to provide lodging for festival actors, actresses and volunteers.

The festival, the first of its kind in Bethel, is scheduled for Aug. 9 to 13.

Two stage plays, both family-friendly light comedies, will be part of the festival, and organizers are hoping to find housing for up to 15 actors and volunteers.

The housing is being sought the period of July 21 to Aug. 13.

In addition to the theatrical performances, the festival will offer a variety of other entertainments reminiscent of old English country festivals — strolling village streets and the town common will be mines, acrobats, musicians, dancers, jugglers and other performers.

Local theater enthusiasts hope this year's festival will mark the start of a long theatrical tradition in Bethel.

"We might even become the Berkshires of western Maine. John Todd, one of the event organizers, said when plans for the festival were first announced.

Some of the actors for this year's performance will come fresh from a run of "Twelfth Night" at the Boothbay Opera House, according to Artistic Director Andrew Harris.

"It is a very unique situation for a company never to have had a 'life' before, so it will be

But FAA's role is unclear

By MICHAEL DANIELS

In situations where the Federal Aviation Agency is the first agency to learn of an aircraft crash, there is "an expectation" the FAA will promptly notify local emergency responders, an FAA spokesman told The Citizen this week.

But there is no formal requirement that the agency do so, Jim Peters of the FAA's Eastern Regional Office in New York said.

In the case of last week's fatal crash in Newry, it appears the agency may have known of the crash nearly a half an hour before Oxford County Dispatch did.

Various parties have described the following communications as having taken place Thursday afternoon.

At about 3:30 p.m. Bethel pilot Chris Merrill located the downed Cessna 172, and radioed the two Twin Cities pilots who were in the area. Between 3:30 and 4 p.m., Merrill said, one of the pilots told him the FAA had been notified.

Peters also noted a call at that time, and he said the information had been called in to the FAA's Portland office.

From there the information was relayed to the FAA's communication center in Burlington, Mass., which received the

Beech and popple chopped and dropped in effort to stem erosion in Sunday River Valley

By ALISON ALOISIO

A pilot project designed to reduce erosion from logging roads in the Sunday River watershed got underway last week. The method employed, known as "chop and drop," utilizes cut trees to create natural water dams.

A watershed restoration crew from the nearby White Mountain National Forest, under the supervision of Jay Milot, spent last Thursday cutting hardwood trees and placing them in strategic places along a 200-foot stretch of road in Riley Township. The old road is located on property managed by the Maine Bureau of Parks & Lands.

The project was organized by Jeff Stern, a watershed consultant for the town of Newry.

"If it's successful, the project will point the way to reducing erosion from miles of similar roads in the upper Sunday River watershed, which has destabilized the river by washing out banks, destroying fishery habitat and threatening roads and homes downstream in Newry and Bethel," said Stern.

"So much soil has washed into the river that the pools favored by adult trout have filled up and spawning beds are smothered," Stern said. "The river has reacted to the influx of soil by cutting new channels and eroding banks."

DAYLILIES, SHARP EYES NEEDED

To the Editor:

You may have noticed the destruction of part of the plantings of daylilies at the intersection of the Parkway and Route 26. As of June 21 it appears that someone drove a motorcycle or truck through the middle of the garden on at least three different occasions. Over 50 plants were damaged or destroyed. We will do what we can to restore the plantings. If you have any daylilies to donate or you could help plant, please call 824-2765.

If you see anyone driving over any of the public plantings, please call the Bethel Police Department.

GIVE THEM A BIG HAND

To the Editor:

Congratulations to everyone that played a part in the making of "The Legend of Pocahontas." Everyone did a fantastic job, including the dancers, and especially the lead characters.

The appearance of 16-month-old great-granddaughter Gabrielle Groves was a special treat. To our granddaughters, Tiffany and Kristi, as this was their last year, we will miss them so much. However, we won't miss out on upcoming recitals. Our family works very hard behind the scenes to put on large performances such as this one, and it shows.

Troy's artwork on the sets is wonderful, and Maryanne keeps everything moving smoothly, and of course Amanda Bess plays an important role in putting the show together. Adam Ames also does an excellent job with video taping and lighting the show.

A big applause should also go out to the hardworking teachers, Heather, Bonnie and Michelle, for their time, patience, talent and dedication.

The pianist, Phil House, was also a wonderful addition to the show.

Thank you for dedicating this great performance to us. We appreciate it and love you all.

The Legend of Pocahontas was a huge success. Thank you parents, family and friends for your support and braving the heat we encounter every year.

Bravo dancers on a job well done; you made us proud. We had a wonderful season.

Hope to see you all in August for registration.

IT'S THE LAW: PASS BICYCLES SAFELY

To the Editor:

Motorists must yield. It's the law. From the Maine [drivers] exam manual, Internet edition, July 2004:

"Suppose in a narrow lane, there are oncoming cars to the left of you and a bicyclist ahead. In some instances an inexperienced bicyclist will be less predictable. Therefore, give extra room. An experienced bicyclist will often 'command the lane' by moving further into the roadway. Motorists must yield. Slow down to avoid an accident. When it is safe to pass allow at least three feet to your right side when passing.

"Sometimes you can take two dangers one at a time. Suppose there is only one oncoming car to the left and a bicyclist to the right. Instead of driving between the car and the bike, take them one at a time. Slow down and let the car pass. Then, move to the left to allow plenty of room before you pass the bicyclist."

Please remember that the bicycle is a vehicle of the street or highway, its rider-as-operator having the same right-of-way as the driver of a car, pickup or pulp truck.

SAD44

Directors signed the warrant for a second district budget referendum, to take place July 25. A public hearing is scheduled for July 17.

The new budget vote was required after voters on June 13 turned down Article 3 of the budget proposal. The article called for $1,980,740 million in "additional local funds," to supplement the minimum funding the state deems necessary for a district.

The general fund budget totaled $9.3 million.

LD1 background

Last year's LD1 legislation was intended to provide tax relief through more state aid to education, and resulted in an additional $408,000 for SAD44 this year compared to last.

As part of the LD1 reform, the state also devised the Essential Programs and Services formula, detailing what it considered essential student services. Anything over that is the responsibility of local districts to fund.

Thus the "additional local funds" referendum item.

Bies argued at a budget hearing in May, and later in a letter to the editor in The Citizen, that the $408,000 should be used to reduce the local share of school costs.

Bies reiterated Monday that that "pool of money" was intended for tax relief, "and you're still ignoring that fact."

But he said he felt it would be reasonable to expect a budget increase of 2 to 3 percent a year to cover inflation and cost-of-living increases.

Bies was the only citizen offering comment at Monday's meeting. Murphy said he has not had calls from anyone regarding the budget since the June 13 referendum.

Murphy's math

Addressing the budget increases, Murphy said a 40 percent increase in fuel costs, coupled with higher insurance costs and negotiated staff wage increases, ate up most of the added state money.

There was also $100,000 less in carryover money available than last year, he said.

Last year, the board held the line on the overall budget, in part by using more such carryover funds. The district had also received approximately $32,000 less in state aid than the year before, Murphy said.

Directors cut several staff positions last year, eliminated double bus runs, and they cut back capital improvements.

Murphy replied to Bies' math reasoning on state aid with some of his own.

He said that before LD1, aid was based on a district's gross budget from the preceding year.

LD1 increased the percentage of state aid, but based it on a smaller piece of the total budget pie — the portion the state saw as "essential."

To illustrate his point, Murphy said that in 1997, SAD44 received $2,442,910 in aid, about 35 percent of the budget. In 2006, the number was $2,335,970, about 25 percent.

"If you're going to use numbers, you need to understand what the numbers really are," he said.

Directors' views

At last week's board meeting, some directors also questioned how realistic the state formula is.

"I think people don't understand that these state standards are bare minimum," said Bethel director Lynn Arizzi.

Murphy said the EPS formula hurts rural districts, which often have more schools relative to the number of students, as well as greater distances to bus students.

Director Ron Deegan of Woodstock, who also works for SAD17 as transportation coordinator, said the state bases transportation aid on student population density. That's unrealistic, he said.

In a more populous school system, said Deegan, a large number of students are often picked up in one place. But in rural areas, "we have to go around a lake to pick up a student on the other side."

The EPS model also assumes a teacher/pupil ratio of 17:1, Murphy said. That may sound good initially, he said, but music, art, P.E. and other support teachers are also factored into the ratio. That means a classroom teacher may have significantly greater numbers in one classroom.

Murphy also reminded directors that the district's lobbying efforts last year gained SAD44 an exclusion from an EPS formula provision that would have shifted much of the district tax burden from Newry to the other four towns.

No district meeting

At Monday's meeting, Bies also argued for an open district-wide budget meeting instead of a ballot referendum.

The referendum, he said, "is not guaranteed to reach a result."

But Woodstock director Marcel Polak said he favored the referendum because it gives more people a chance to vote over the course of a day.

The hearing on July 17 starts at 7 p.m., at the Telstar High School library.

Murphy said anyone with questions before then may call his office at 824-2185.

Special pickups are also available by calling 364-4049.

Parks, historic sites need repair

PORTLAND—Maine's failure to maintain and upgrade its state parks and historic sites has left a repair backlog totaling more than $33 million, according to a new study and policy paper prepared for the Baldacci administration. Among the signs of neglect are crumbling buildings, outdated bathrooms and limitations on access for disabled visitors. The condition of the parks is seen as part of a broader failure to invest in Maine's "green infrastructure," which includes recreation lands and trails, beaches, fish hatcheries, boat ramps, farmland and forests. By one measure, according to the study, the state needs $85 million to preserve and expand those resources over the next two fiscal years. Advocates say public spending on natural resources has lagged far behind demand, despite their key role in Maine's economy. State parks generated more than $95 million in economic activity last year. More than 2 million people visit state parks and historic sites each year, but such facilities have drawn little support in the Legislature and at the polls. Over the past 35 years, voters have approved only $8.5 million for capital repairs. Maine's general fund, which has suffered budget cuts, provides most of the money for maintaining parks and historic sites. Revenue from loon conservation license plates, 60 percent of which goes to park maintenance, has been falling since 1999.

At 11 p.m. on Route 26 Officer T.J. Reese and a county deputy arrested Margaret A. Behan, 53, of West Paris for OUI.

Wednesday, June 21

At 3 p.m. Officer Travis Fillmore responded to the common for a subject who said a business owner had rudely interrogated her about what she was doing. She was sitting on a park bench at the time. She was concerned at the way that she, a tourist, had been treated by a local resident.

At 2:05 a.m. Officer Travis Fillmore received a call from the Civil Air Patrol reporting an aircraft distress beacon coming from the Bethel Airport. The officer responded and found no sign of a downed aircraft. An Air Patrol unit then arrived and determined it was coming from a plane that had been flown in to the airport about a week earlier.

Tuesday, June 20

At 3:25 p.m. Officer Phil Taylor responded to a business for what appeared to be a 911 hangup call. The building was locked. It was surmised that there was an electrical problem because of a violent thunderstorm in the area. There was also a phone company truck parked in front of the building and an employee working on the lines.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log. It lists cases reported in the log of adults being arrested or issued a summons in the 10 days prior to the newspaper's publication, but does not include all reports of police activity.

network of logging roads in the Bethel Water District's watershed, where the crash happened.

The logging roads helped with access, he said, but most of the last mile and a half was tough going through virgin forest.

With a LifeFlight helicopter hovering over the site to guide them, the men found their way to the airplane and confirmed there were no survivors.

On Friday morning, members of the Mahoosuc Mountain Rescue and Tri-Town Search and Rescue teams prepared to go up the mountain to recover the bodies.

As they organized, the operation was coordinated from the airport by the BFD's Shannon Sumner. He was designated incident commander, and utilized the communication system on Med-Care's Incident Management Assistance Team vehicle.

Sumner, for example, put out calls for wheeled rescue boggans, on which the litters carrying the bodies would be placed to be brought down the mountain.

The rainy weather prevented the removal of the victims by air. "We knew we were going to have to carry them down," said Jim Sysko of MMR. "It was about a mile of bushwhacking to get there."

MMR and Tri-Town also had the responsibility Friday of getting FAA and NTSB investigators safely up and down the mountain.

Other organizations helping out at various times during the operation were Bethel Rescue, Med-Care Ambulance, Tri-Town Rescue, the Bethel Police Dept., the Oxford County Sheriff's Dept., the Maine Warden Service, Bethel Water District, Andover Technical Rescue, the Salvation Army, members of the Bethel and Newry FD auxiliaries and other, unaffiliated volunteers.

Wilson likely summed up the sentiments of all who helped out in a situation they knew would not have a happy ending.

"You know [the victims] loved ones would want them taken care of," said Wilson. "So you take care of them like they're your own."

evening. Members of Mahoosuc Mountain Rescue cut a path to facilitate the removal. The victims were identified by their dental records, according to the Oxford County Sheriff's Department.

Investigators returned to the crash scene Saturday, and on Sunday the wreckage of the 1979 plane was removed in pieces by helicopter. It was taken by truck to the Biddeford Municipal Airport, to be stored in a secure place.

Weir was an experienced pilot, familiar with flying in this region, according to Twin Cities Air Service. There was no rain at the time of the crash. It was a warm, humid afternoon, with light winds.

Area pilots have commented that warm air, less dense than cold, can make it more difficult for a plane to climb. They also say that flying around mountains can be tricky because of air currents.

Local rescuers said the plane appeared to have gone straight into the ground, without shearing off treetops. The terrain at the crash site itself was nearly flat.

The investigation of the cause of the crash will continue, and could take up to a year, according to authorities. A preliminary NTSB report could be filed within about a week.

Newry was also the site of a fatal plane accident in 1992, when a plane crashed into Mt. Will, killing a Maine state trooper and his wife.

Chop-Drop

Surveys conducted from 2000 to 2004 identified washouts from the network of abandoned logging roads in the upper Sunday River watershed as a primary source of soil erosion entering the river, Stern said.

"The steep road used for the pilot project was originally used for logging. Like many other old roads in the upper Sunday River Watershed that weren't maintained, it has eroded quite a bit over time, forming a gully and creating a channel for water to run down, thus causing more erosion," he said.

Aggravating the situation, according to Stern, the road has been used by off-road vehicles, which can further tear up the ground and create deeper ruts.

He said the chop-and-drop method has been successfully used in the national forest. The crew on the Riley project first dropped trees six to eight inches in diameter along the road.

"They laid down the smaller tree limbs with the limbs facing uphill," said Stern. "Then, they put the log dams across the road, generally on top of the brush mat. The idea is, over time, water coming downhill will bend those tree limbs back toward the logs and the result will be good 'damming' action to trap sediment."

The trees trap soil that otherwise would run off into the Sunday River. Plants then take root in the soil deposits.

"Most of the trees cut were beech or popple," said Stern. "No softwoods. Hardwoods are the preferred trees because they hold up well for this type of erosion control. The BP&L forester who accompanied me to scout out the site a few weeks ago said that many of the beech trees in the area are diseased and it would be good to cut them down anyway."

Stern estimated that it should take about a year for significant sediment to accumulate behind the log dams.

He's hopeful that if the project produces good results, it will justify applying for grant funding to do more such work.

"The Bureau of Parks and Lands is very interested, and so is the town of Newry, since the town suffers the downstream consequences," said Stern.

He also said he spoke with Sunday River Skiway officials about possibly doing chop and drop in areas where the resort has logged recently.

Partners in the Riley project include the town of Newry, Maine Bureau of Parks & Lands, U.S. Forest Service, Sunday River Watershed Interest Group, Maine Departments of Environmental Protection and Inland Fisheries & Wildlife, Sunday River Ski Company, and Hurricane Island Outward Bound.

FAA

call "at approximately a quarter to four," Peters said (but see "Latest version" below).

However, it was not until nearly a half hour later, at 4:13, that Oxford County Dispatch received its first call about the crash.

That call kicked off the local rescue effort, but the call didn't come from the FAA office in Massachusetts — it came from the Twin Cities office in Auburn.

"If Twin Cities hadn't called us, we wouldn't have known anything for some time," said Jim Miclon, director of communications for Oxford County Regional Communications Center.

Peters (in response to a direct question during a follow-up telephone conversation Tuesday) said the FAA official in Burlington contacted the local sheriff's department "as soon as he got" the call from Portland.

But asked when "as soon as" was, Peters refused to say.

"I don't know the timeline," Peters said, "and I'm not going to go into that."

According to Dispatch records the FAA did call to Oxford County Dispatch, but not until nearly an hour and a half after the Burlington office first received information about the accident.

"At 5:09, almost 5:10 we got a call from the FAA," Miclon said.

By then the local rescue effort was well underway.

At 4:35 Dispatch had toned out the Newry Fire Department, according to Newry firefighter Brad Wight.

Bethel was toned at 4:44 p.m., after it was realized the crash site was on the south side of Barker Mountain and more accessible from Bethel.

No formal FAA procedure
In most airplane accidents, Peters said, the FAA gets its initial information from local emergency services.

But in cases where the agency is the first to learn of an accident, it attempts to contact the relevant local authorities.

When asked by The Citizen if there was "a protocol or expectation" that such contact would be made, Peters responded "absolutely there is."

But he said, "There's no formal notification order in place that requires us to do that."

As for the timeliness of the agency's response in the case of last week's crash, "If there's questions being raised by local responders as to the adequacy or the inadequacy of the notification process, that's something that possibly the investigator will look at," Peters said.

Last week's crash is being investigated by the National Transportation Safety Board.

A preliminary report is expected within the week; a final report will probably not be released for six to twelve months.

Latest version of events

Over the course of several telephone conversations with Peters this week, his account of the agency's role in events that followed the accident has evolved.

In a final conversation Wednesday, he again referred to the communication at 3:45 p.m. last Thursday, but said that at that point the agency was told only that a plane was "overdue or missing."

The Citizen then attempted to confirm this with Nate Humphrey, owner of Twin Cities Air Services — who called in the information to the FAA.

Humphrey was unavailable, but his office said he would call later in the week. The Citizen hopes to report his comments in next week's edition.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

Muriel Butters spent the weekend with Bruce and Lottie Stevens in Bar Harbor. She attended the graduation of her grandson, Alex Stevens, from Mt. Desert Island High School where there were 600 graduates.

John Brown is recovering at the Norway Convalescent Home after being at Stephens Memorial Hospital.

There will be a Bake Sale at the Methodist Church on Friday, July 7, at noon. This will continue on Fridays throughout the summer.

Emma Page spent five days in Miami, Fla., with her son, Gary, and wife and her mother. They attended the graduation at Nova Southeastern University at Fort Lauderdale where he received a doctorate in business administration.

Judy and Drew Webster have had a granddaughter, Lillian Kjolman, of Phippsburg visiting this past week.

A baby girl, Lauren Brooke Rapp, was born June 19 to Tim and Brooke Rapp of Concord, N.H. She was born on her mother's birthday and is the granddaughter of Barbara and Peter Weeks of Dunbarton, N.H. Barbara Douglass is her great-grandmother.

Chuck and Mary Millard and grandson, Nicholas, of Bristol R.I., spent the past weekend at their Chapman Street home. They went fishing and visited the National Forest office where they saw moose tracks.

A group of members of the Western Mountains Senior College met for a picnic on the grounds at Deertrees Theater this past Sunday afternoon. Other members joined them later to watch "Reny's, The Musical."

The play deals with development, our attitudes toward it, and the institutions that control it. It's the old story of the downtown store versus the malls and box stores. It was a great play.

On Sunday at the Methodist Church there was a ringing of the church bells in silent meditation and remembrance of the death of more than 2,500 U.S. soldiers.

Oxford Hills Bridge Club winners last Friday in a five-table Howell movement game, a charity game with the benefits going to the Norway Trail Association in memory of Don Johnson, were: first, Anna Cormier and Woody Mercier with Eleanor Griffin and Jim Dickens second, who were also first in flight B and C. Finishing third in flight A were Richard Balian and Eric Sahlberg. Finishing second in flight B were Carol Curran and Bill Bowman with Nancy Farmer and Bailey Geeslin third.

Mayville News

By Donald Bennett
Murray (Mike) Thurston was admitted to Rumford Hospital last Thursday following an accident at home. Connie Thurston told me that she expects Mike to be released this Tuesday.

Bethel Outdoor Adventure hosted a Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours on Thursday. The hosts claim that their "guests got to try some of the tastiest iced tea in western Maine, complete with fresh picked mint, they got to see the last of the USA soccer team leaving the pitch in Nuremberg, very much with tails between their collective legs, and got to hear the sirens and watch the distant action as a plane crash on Barker Mountain was reported, investigated, discovered, and approached."

Outdoor Adventure's reception space was shared with the Skunk Run folk. That is a group of motorcyclists who run an annual fundraiser The Skunk Run. This event aims to raise money to send Telstar students to technical college, through the Sardon Morgan Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The Moosa (Bike) Tour — about 140 of them — gathered at the campground this past weekend before heading out on their bicycle tour which will take them to northern Maine, Canada, and finally back to Bethel next weekend.

At 333 Mayville Road we have named the biking people "intrepid voyagers." The continuous summer and fall biking on Mayville Road is proof that there are some determined, sinewy Americans that put muscle to the bike pedal instead of to a gas throttle. And more power to them. Do they use our glamorous new bridge?

Then the Parsons ask, "Have we found May Flowers yet?" Not yet, but the trailing arbutus is an evergreen so it will stay put and cautiously visible until found.

Rainfall last week amounted to 2-3/4 inches.

In the spying on the neighbors department, we enjoyed a kitchen window front row seat to watch Ron and Cindy Savage's driveway entrance give birth to an elegant landscape job.

Their audience(us) was most amused at the constant change in those who were sidewalk superintending. Congratulations on such fine landscape work.

Roger Conant reported Riverside Cemetery's save-the-riverbank fund has recently received donations from Stephen McClain III, Lee Carroll and Kenneth and Barbara Wakefield. The association is grateful for these donations.

In part due to recently increased interest in Riverside Cemetery, there is a project underway to make available online a list of the names of all those buried in Riverside Cemetery starting with the oldest burials.

A number of years ago, Adaline Clough began field checking a number of Bethel's cemeteries. She has already recorded the gravesites in Riverside as arranged by avenue for all but 10 avenues. Adaline has high hopes of finishing her work this summer. This kind of information is of high personal value to families around the country who are studying their family history and genealogy. Three avenues are on line now and names can be found with the assistance of those Google people in Mountain View, Calif. (To start a search, type the person's name along with the words Bethel Cemetery.)

Our household oracles of truth and wisdom, WHOM and Reader's Digest, have been counseling against use of food products containing high fructose corn syrup and hydrogenated vegetable oil. What surprised me was to discover that our Hannaford Bros. Classic Italian salad dressing and our current loaf of bread along with our peanut butter and jam contain these ingredients. Good Food Store had the answer to the peanut butter and jam items. We had rolls on hand that were pure and unadulterated but I ended up making salad dressing from scratch using my own honey-mustard recipe.

Saturday at lunchtime about 20 members of a classic car group had stopped for lunch at the Brew Pub. When you see so many 1950s and '60s cars together, you know that you are getting older when seeing those beauties does not seem unusually out of place.

During spring and early summer, there has been much talk about pedestrian trails in Mayville particularly to connect the new bridge with Angevine Park. I would note that trail interested readers ought not to overlook the River Side Trail maintained by River View Resort. My assistant correspondent, Ashton Samala, and I checked the trail out twice this week. Unlike the sort of urbanized Davis Park Trail, it gives the user some really interesting pathways. Ashton and I climbed up from the trail to explore old Route 2 to find, lo and behold, an abandoned rowboat.

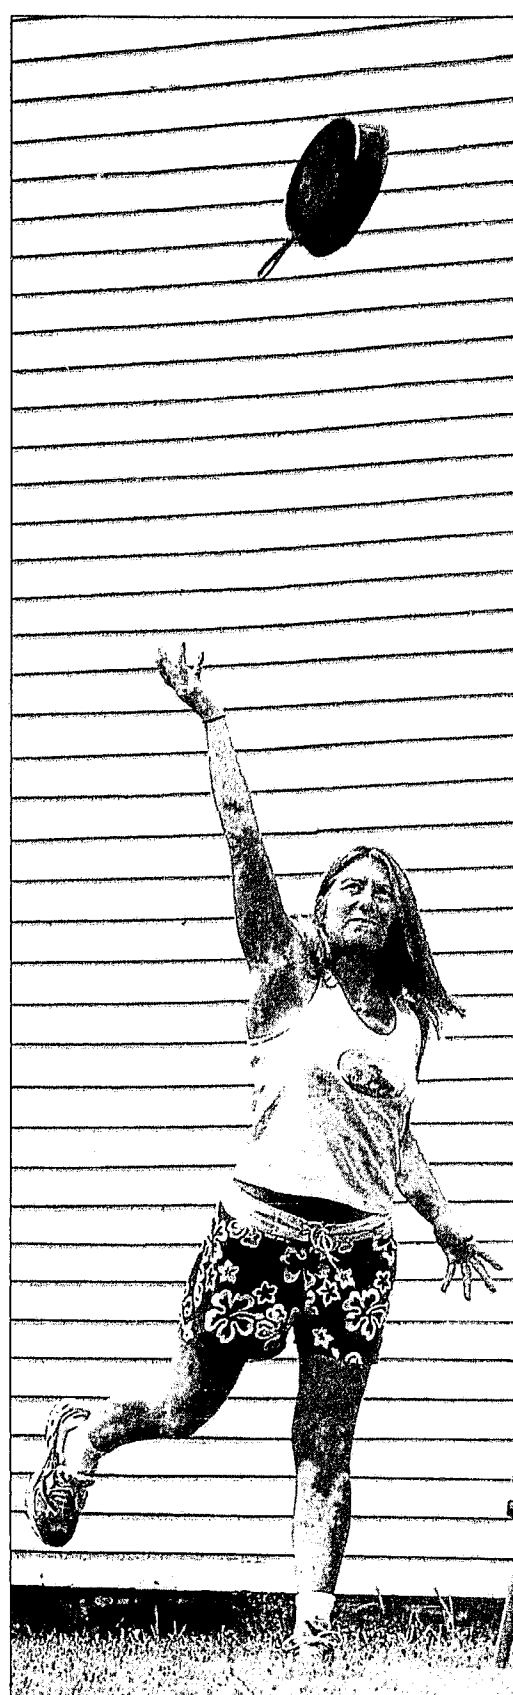

The next day we went riverbank fishing at a point on the trail where walkers would leave the hayfield section and merge into the woods. We used lures instead of flies when the fish really wanted a fly to bite. However, we had our usual luck of catching a burly, angry looking chub of about 14 inches.

While getting our prize fish off the hook, we heard a strange voice. Looking up, we saw a lady quite stylishly dressed for hiking standing behind us. She asked about the trail to the rest area. My answer was, "You are standing in it". She looked somewhat dismayed — not interested in our fishing at all. I think that she was expecting a continuation of the nicely mowed trail through the woods. Our surprise visitor decided to return to the River View rather than risk the unknowns of forging on to the rest area.

In the "closing the circle" department: Our grandson Ashton lives in Plano, Texas, one zipcode number away from the headquarters of Frito-Lay, the big potato chip company. Almost daily Ashton walks through a potato field farmed by David McCrum's Sunday River Farm. It is growing potatoes that will probably be delivered to Frito-Lay for potato chips after the potatoes are harvested.

SKILLET SLINGER

A Skillet Throwing Contest was among the events at Saturday's first annual Friends and Family Day, organized by the Gilead Historical Society. Here, Belinda Glover shows her winning form in tossing the pan 48 feet to take the women's division title.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

This past weekend was very busy for a lot of people in Gilead.

The first annual Friends and Family Day was held at the Town Hall. The weather decided to cooperate and Saturday turned out to be a great day after a rainy start. Our grandchildren were here for the day and William tried his hand at the Skillet Throwing Contest, and his best throw was 20.5 feet.

My brother, Steve McLain, reports that his garden is doing great and most things are coming up and are right on schedule. I missed getting in a Happy Birthday wish to him last week, so I will offer a belated one for his birthday that he had on June 27. I also need to wish Sue Saunders a Happy Birthday, since hers is on the same day. A friend of mine, Louann Brown Bell has a birthday on June 29 (today), so at least I am on time for one out of the three.

Gladys Taylor called with some news of a few of the things that she has been doing with her family. Last week she went to Santa's Village with two of her granddaughters, Juleigha Taylor and Brooke Bagley. The trip was in honor of Juleigha's fifth birthday. Gladys attended "The Legend of Pocahontas" that was presented by the Toe Tappin' Jazz Dance Studio last weekend. Besides Juleigha, Alexa and Taylor Maddocks of Gilead, two of her other granddaughters, were in the dance recital. Mike and Regina Chapman of Upton also came to watch the girls dance.

This past Sunday, Gladys went to Portland with Don and Nancy Bagley and Brooke. They went shopping at the Christmas Tree Shop, had lunch at the Country Buffet and then stopped at the Gray Animal Park on their way home. When they were there, they ran into Gladys' brother, Jeff Chapman, and his three children. The children had a great time since they got to see lots of animals: lynx, bobcat, mountain lion, a white porcupine, lots of birds, a couple of black bears and a great big brown bear. One of the bears sat up and begged for food. Brooke got to check out an area that was full of turtles.

Planning Board

A Planning Board meeting will be held at 7 p.m. on July 6 at the Town Hall. The agenda is posted at the Town Hall, Town Office and Transfer Station. Contact Jack Pucak at 836-2729 for information related to the meeting. Applications for such work may be obtained at the Town Office.

Gilead Historical Society

The Friends and Family Day held on Saturday, June 24, was a success. The beginning of the day was a little discouraging, but by mid morning it turned out to be a beautiful day. According to the guest book, there were at least 125 people present throughout the day and not everyone signed in. People started gathering around 9 a.m. to check things out.

The Skillet Throwing Contest was held from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. At first, everyone was a little shy about taking a turn, but Gray Bujnowski, a new Gilead resident, along with his wife, Jill, stepped forward to give it a try. The word spread and the guys at the GFD left the grill long enough to come and give it a try. It was a good thing they did because all three ribbons went to them. First place, Randy Grondin (72 feet); second place, Fabian Corriveau (67.5 feet); and third place, Jamie McLean (65 feet). The women's division had a good showing with first place going to Belinda Glover (48 feet), second place to Jill Bujnowski and third place to Carole Cox. The children's throw was next and first place went to Dakota Jacques (28 feet), second place to Fabian Corriveau, Jr. (23.5 feet) and third place to Calvin Glover (23 feet).

Bobo, the Clown, arrived before the parade, gave out balloons and marched in the parade with the children. Smokey, The Bear, came for the parade and walked with his friend and USFS co-worker, Jay Milot and Jay's son, Asa. The parade was just a walking parade on Depot Street, but there were several children who participated. There were first, second and third place ribbons given out. The winners were: first place, Kaiya Corriveau; second place, Sam Corriveau; and third place, Ajay Landry.

Thanks to our judges: Norm Buttrick, Sidney Murphy and Jill Bujnowski.

The Gilead Fire Department was set up at the station and serving their delicious hamburgers, hot dogs and famous fries. They worked very hard serving lunch and deserve a big Thank You. They also had Safe Kids there at the station, inspecting car seats for young children. Sue Saunders of the GFD has access to four booster car seats for children 40 to 80 pounds and one seat for a special needs child. Call Sue at 836-2494 if you need help getting a seat and are unable to purchase one.

After the parade, Bobo put on a show for the children. They kept him so busy making animals and flowers out of balloons that he barely had time for lunch. Someone who had him come to their daughter's birthday party recommended him to us. A lot of people asked how to get in touch with him. He can be reached at (603) 752-2032 or www.bobo-t-clown.com.

The "Yet to be Named Banjo Club" set up under the tent and played for the adults while the children were entertained by Bobo. The children were dancing to their music while they were waiting their turn. They played old-time favorites, which everyone could enjoy.

At 2 p.m., Howard Reiche and Hugh Chapman gave a brief talk on the area. They talked about Hastings and the connection with Gilead. After they finished, Joe Taylor took a group of interested people up to Hastings so see where the town was. Thanks to Joe, and maybe we can get him to do it again when the black flies are on vacation!

The Town Hall was busy throughout the day with people stopping by for pie, ice cream and to purchase books and raffle tickets. The new book, "Hastings" is available by calling 836-2987. Robert Stewart, who is married to Joanne Peabody Stewart, won the 50/50 raffle. She is a descendant of the Peabody's, the first settlers in Gilead, hence the name "Peabody's Patent."

The GHS would like to thank all those who made this possible: the hardworking members of the GHS and the GFD, "Bobo, The Clown," the "Yet to be Named Banjo Club," "Smokey, The Bear," the two "vendors" who came (Gorham Historical Society, Albert and Nancy Holden), Fred Corriveau, and all the people who came to check things out and support our efforts.

Got any news? Call 836-2987 or e-mail chapmal@hotmail.com.

Last Wednesday, Karlene Bachelder and Gilberte Seeley drove over to Unity to get her sister, Wilma. They drove to Troy to visit with her nieces, Linda Parker and Norma Anderson. Norma and husband, Dick, and their son, Connor, from North Carolina were visiting at Linda's. After lunch and a pleasant visit together, they took Wilma back to Unity and drove home to Newry. On Sunday, after lunching with Gilberte at the Cinnamon Stick Café, Eloise Vail and her daughter, Martha Littlefield of Stoneham, visited Karlene. Eloise is originally from Newry.

Recently I purchased flowers from Mountain Greenery. They are now in the ground and in window boxes; most were planted between raindrops. Sally, of Mountain Greenery, told me she would be open until mid-July. There are still many lovely flowers left. She even has some "weird" looking shoes to purchase to wear while doing your planting.

This past weekend, Mark treated me to a birthday dinner. He did a marvelous job preparing my favorite foods. He had presents as well. After lunch we went for a drive, stopped to get a lottery ticket and then to the IGA for ice cream. A wonderful afternoon together.

On Saturday, a memorial service for Sandee Dunn's sister, Arlene Abbott Averill, was held at Riverside Cemetery in Bethel. Arlene passed away in Florida this past December. After the service about 45 people drove back to the Dunn's home where refreshments were served. Her husband, Fred, was pleased to see so many friends and relatives.

The spots have been dug for Newry's Tree Project. The date of the plantings will be Wednesday, June 28. Only native species of trees will be gracing the lawn of the Bear River Grange Hall. Bruce Pierce and his tractor, along with kids from Outward Bound will be doing the work. Brenda Wight and Rick Clark will be assisting along with anyone interested in giving a helping hand.

Belated birthday greetings to Anita Clark of the Town Office. Recently she enjoyed gifts with friends along with a delicious strawberry shortcake made by Retta.

News from the Town Office: The office will be closed on Tuesday, July 4. The Board of Selectmen meet on the first and third Monday of each month. The Planning Board members meet on the first and third Wednesday of each month. Their agendas are posted at the Town Office. If you need more information about these meetings you may call the office at 824-3223. All meetings at the Town Office are open to the public.

West Bethel

What is so rare as a day in June? The first day of summer was certainly a rare one, with deep blue skies, soft breezes, and mild temperatures, unlike the hot, humid, and often rainy weather that preceded it for a week or two. The ladyslippers are done for the year after their two weeks of glory. The lupine in our yard is also looking a bit tired. However, yellow daylilies and purple irises are taking up the slack. We are letting the asparagus go to seed after several weeks of stuffing ourselves with it.

While my hair was being cut last Wednesday, I was able to get the full story of Linda Westleigh's surprise birthday party. She was truly surprised, especially when her sister Nadine appeared, all the way from Florida. Other relatives who came from out of town were Aunt Isabelle from Massachusetts; Linda's paternal aunt and uncle, also from Massachusetts; and her brother from Skowhegan. The party was held at the Phoenix up at Sunday River, and daughter Lisa seemed to have thought of everything, including Linda's favorite M & Ms and Tootsie Rolls.

The only fly in the ointment was that Reg was not in attendance, owing to the fact he was stuck in Stephens Memorial, being treated for h. pylori. (Linda said to figure it out!) He is now home and is recu-

Informed that the green metal roof has been installed on the farm store building at Sunday River Alpaca. I think completion is not far off. Elaine has yet to produce her baby, but may have done so by the time this sees print. The other four are growing rapidly and are unbelievably cute.

On a sad note, we received word that Ruth Gilbert passed away on Saturday, June 17. Her funeral was Wednesday afternoon, June 21, at the West Bethel Union Church. The Gilberts were good neighbors, good citizens, good people, and both are sorely missed. Our condolences to all the Gilbert family.

We hope you're enjoying the season, especially the fresh produce that is coming along rapidly with all the heat and precipitation. Stay well, and remember to use sunscreen. Call or write with news: 836-3011; dhoeh@megalink.net.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

June 30 is the official beginning of a bottle drive designated to raise funds for Gardner Roberts Memorial Library moving fund. Sarah Moir, a 13-year-old summer resident at Howard Pond, is heading up this campaign. Curbside pick-ups will occur on Sundays, July 2, July 9, and July 16 for residents located on Main Street, Howard Pond Road, Mill Hill Road and South Shore Road. Please have your donated returnable bottles and cans bagged and placed beside the road by 10 a.m. on each of the Sundays. All others from the area are asked to leave their donated returnables at a designated drop site located by the Hanover Town Office. This drop site is available at all times starting June 30 through July 16. Special pick-ups are also available for those needing the service (large quantities, time constraints, etc.) by calling 364-4049. We hope everyone will help spread the word and enthusiastically support this very special fundraiser.

The Gardner Roberts Memorial Library held a meeting last Wednesday with a good turnout of interested people. Discussed were methods of fundraising and procedures in starting the work to move the library.

The Hanover Select Board met on Tuesday, June 20, for their monthly meeting. They met with Doug Wilson of D.A. Wilson to discuss reconstruction of portions of the Howard Pond Road. They also discussed work that needs to be completed on town buildings.

Plan to be at the American Legion Hall on the Gore Road in Greenwood on Saturday, July 1, at 5 p.m. That is when there will be a benefit supper for Code Enforcement Officer John "Gootsch" Gauthier. The supper will be of the potluck variety and will include other fundraising events. Gootsch has been very helpful to the folks he assists; he always takes the time to make sure a project is planned right, for a contractor or a citizen; turn out to give him a boost. Gootsch was taken ill in Washington State and required surgery. He has now returned to Maine where he continues to recover.

Hanover resident Pete Barlow was one of two to receive "Outstanding Educator of the Year" awards presented by Washington County Community College chosen from statewide competition. Pete has been a longtime teacher at Region 9 School of Applied Technology in Mexico. Pete shares the honor with another Region 9 instructor, Norman Jamison, who also received the designation of Outstanding Educator of the Year.

A severe lightning storm moved across the area on Monday, June 19, causing damage to many areas in the state from lightning and wind. In Hanover a power company transformer across the road from Gordie Howe's Store was struck by lightning and burned. That turned off the electricity to most Hanover residents for about 15 hours. Another violent storm passed through the area the next day but there were no reports of damage.

Howard Pond Preservation Association members are reminded of the meeting at 9:30 a.m. on Monday, July 3, at Payne's cottage at 501 Howard Pond Road.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte

Fourth of July weekend is pending and the weather most mornings is cold and damp. Occasionally we are rewarded with a sunny day. Sue Angevine calls it the "June Monsoon," which we think is very appropriate.

Sunday, which was pretty good weather wise, brought a lot of people out of hiding. The Blessing of the Bikes kept Route 26 in a steady hum heading toward Colebrook.

Larry Nelson and Don Harrick took four days vacationing in Kingston, Ontario.

Golf and fishing predominated in their waking hours. They were very pleased with the results of both.

The peonies are in full bloom. When the sun shines they are so pretty, but the rain continues to bog them down. Ginny Williamson gave me a lovely bouquet of them.

The Public Landing in Cambridge rivaled Lake Winnepesaukee with all the activity on Sunday. Pontoon boats, kayaks, canoes and even a few sailboats were waiting to be launched.

Diane Williamson's guest, Bill Blodgett, enjoyed a brisk dip in the lake and kayaking on Sunday morning.

Dick and Sue Angevine took their semiannual truck ride through the wilderness over the weekend. They were accompanied by Carolyn and Rod Jordan. They left Upton early traveling up to the Boscawen Camps to visit Liz Sweat, then up through Enneagon to Eustis. Lunching in Rangeley they then took the good road home. Sue said that it was a lot of fun. Very little wildlife was seen. However, way out in the middle of nowhere they encountered a flock of turkeys.

No bears were reported seen in Upton this week. People are taking birdfeeders in at night.

Bruin is no longer enjoying nighttime snacks at the bottom of the hill.

The Georgia Pratt House, owned by the Geillings and Strattons, has gone on the market. As soon as the "For Sale" sign went up I sneaked in and stole a few peonies. The back end of the land on the lake side was rife with bright orange poppies.

While Larry Nelson roamed to Canada, Sue's daughter, Tara, and the two grandchildren, Miles and McKenzie, visited for a few days.

The dooryard has many robins foraging for worms. The rain has made it quite easy for them. Two kingfishers were seen in Peaselee Cove. I haven't seen any ducks, but the weather was custom made for them. The woods are like a jungle, with everything growing big time.

The "Bird of the Week" is the kingfisher.

Fourth of July weekend plans are afoot with many locals and visitors heading to Errol for the parade and fireworks. They always put on a good time for the public. Private parties are planned for Sunday, the second, this year.

It should be a great weekend. Best wishes for a happy fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Andre Cote of Farmington, N.H., visited Arlene Harrington on June 24 and 25.

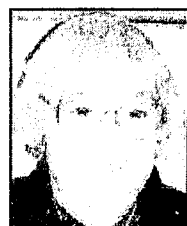

Barbara Honkala will celebrate her birthday on July 9. Jason Coolidge and Rebekah Howe are getting a new home. The old trailer was taken down and burned. The new home will be a doublewide, as they now need the room for the baby.

The Grange supper schedule is as follows: July 22, chicken ala king; Aug. 19, ham and sweet potatoes; Sept. 16, turkey; Sept. 23, beef stew; Oct. 21, harvest supper; Nov. 11, turkey supper.

If anyone has news, give me a ring at 824-3350. I must admit it would be nice to have a little less rain. There have been reports of turkey chicks in the neighborhood recently.

Have a nice week. God Bless the Troops.

The peonies are in full bloom. They are all white and rather small this year. A few years ago there were some dark red ones and all had much larger blossoms. I will have to fertilize them better this fall and cover them with horse manure, as Uncle Hubert said that was the way to keep them over the winter.

WIN THIS QUILT—Raffle tickets are now on sale to win the annual quilt creation by the Cross-Country Quilters. The raffle benefits the Bethel Library, and the drawing will take place Sept. 16. Tickets are available at the library, Books N Things, Bonnama Potters, Pat's Pizza and Pooh Corner Farm. Joe and Peg Perham have been visiting David Perham and family in Eugene, Ore., where they attended the graduation of Grant Perham at International High School and North Eugene High School. Grant plans to attend Oregon State College in the fall.

They spent time in Las Vegas also where the temperature was about 100 degrees.

Beryl Bonney and I went grocery shopping in Auburn this week to replenish our cupboards, freezers and refrigerators. Barbecued ribs at Applebee's topped off the outing.

Androscoggin Home Care and Hospice Volunteer Training finished the nine-day course this past week. I have been in this group and am now a volunteer ready to work.

This warmer weather helps Buffy to get out more and be more active exploring in the back field. I have not seen him with a mouse for the last two or three years.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke
Greetings and hello from Albany Township.

Rain, rain, go away, come back in August! Did you hear on the news where we've gotten nearly twice as much rainfall for the year as normal? Everything is growing nicely, including lawns that you have to wait for a break in the weather to mow. Ah, well, we'd be complaining if there was no rain at all.

The Barton's "Pick Your Own Strawberries" fields are open. Yay! You should stop by their fields on the Barton Road and get some of their strawberries. We're hoping to get some picked and then canned and frozen soon. The season is only a few weeks, so, get there while you can. Their strawberries are always wonderful, and picking them is great family fun. Of course, it figures that it's during the summer months that you can get them and then have to jelly/can them — makes for warm work.

Saw Pam Rugg the other day — she's looking good with a new haircut and slimmer figure. She had her two grandsons up for a visit last week and they kept her hopping. Children are great for that.

Dana and I celebrated our 20th wedding anniversary on Wednesday. Time flies when you're having fun!

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God Bless and Keep.

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Happy Fourth of July! Let's hope for nice weather for this weekend for the holiday.

Peg and I made a trip to Auburn on Thursday. I think it was the first time we've gone and not hit J.C. Penney.

Cheryl Morton would like to thank everyone who sponsored her on her recent bike trip.

Emily Akers Cummings graduated from Concord, N.H., High School recently with a class of just over 400. An Open House was held at her home following the ceremony. Emily is the daughter of Sherry Akers and Jerry Cummings of Loudon N.H. Helping to celebrate were her two brothers, Doug and Robbie. Attending from Andover were her grandparents, Leon and Trudy Akers, and Tim and Darlene Akers. Traveling from Ticonderoga, N.Y., were Jon and Bonnie Akers and Anna Towne. Attending from Bethel were Claire and Barry Carver.

While in Loudon the family also celebrated Robbie's 13th birthday, and attended a double-header baseball game where he plays second base.

Dot Mills returned home on Monday after spending several days in Brookfield N.H., with her daughter and son-in-law, Karen and Bob Vachon. Patty Burnham was in Andover on Sunday evening to watch her granddaughter, Katie, play softball.

There was quite a good-sized turnout for the special Town Meeting last Tuesday. I believe that all four of the articles were turned down.

Happy Birthday to Evan Fesenden on July 1.

Mary Billings has been taking her son Larry to appointments with health providers.

Mary Billings and Annella Burnham watched the Historical Society Museum recently and a few people were in. An exhibit of travel books was set up and peonies from the Billings' flower garden served as decorations. The society looks forward to you visiting this summer any Saturday afternoon from 1 to 4 p.m. The collections are exceptional and you are sure to enjoy them.

The Historical Society Museum is the place to go when you want to transcend time. It offers the best of all periods of history, things that always apply to the human condition.

Thanks to Annella Burnham for going to the celebration in Gilead. Larry sent a small exhibit and Annella took things to sell.

Curator Larry Billings suggests that any Historical Society members who can please send a few dollars to Channel 2 at Telstar High School, as they carry announcements regularly for the society.

Note: In the June 15 column, an item describing a novel that Woodstock Historical Society Curator Larry Billings read should have been listed as "We Were the Mulvaney's," by Joyce Carol Oates.

"This could be just a little erratic."

And speaking of "erratic" — the spelling of last week's clue certainly was. It should have read: "A pre-Rorschach Rorschach, perhaps?"

To atone for the orthographical "oops"

rain. At least it is warm rain and not the white stuff.

The animals are taking to the roads lately. The moose, deer and turkeys are all moving around at will — beware! The bugs are bad from all the rain and they send the animals into the road to avoid them in the woods. We have seen a yearling moose and several turkeys at the transfer station.

We are seeing more and more birds at our feeders. We even have a pair of woodpeckers that come by. I believe I saw a cardinal the other day. It is fun to watch them at the feeders. The plants we planted for them do not seem to be what attracts them or else not where we had assumed they go. Many of our flowers are not blooming yet, but the day-lilies look about to pop. Can't wait to see what colors we have this year.

The Old Time Fiddler's Contest returns to Mollycoddett Day this year. It starts at 5:30 p.m. on July 15. It is always fun to watch and listen to. Call Vickie Rackliffe at 824-3575 for more information.

The strawberries are out. We will be off to pick them at Barton's as soon as possible. We are hoping that Jim will join us from Massachusetts.

Today, July 29, is the blood drive at the Waterford Elementary School. It is from 2 to 7 p.m. Call the Red Cross at (800) 482-0743.

On July 8 at 7:30 p.m. Vocal Solutions will perform at the Waterford Congregational Church, on Plummer Hill. Tickets are $10 at the door.

On July 4, there will be the traditional parade starting at the Waterford Common. After the parade will be the Duck Race. Ducks are $5 for one or 5 for $20. FMI: call Nancy Forest at 583-6551.

On July 1, there will be the annual Art Fair on the Bethel Common. There will also be music by Connie St. Pierre throughout the day. At the gazebo from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Jewell Clark and Donnie Katlin will perform. FMI: call 824-2282, the Bethel Chamber of Commerce.

The Summer breakfasts at the Wilkins House will begin again on July 4 from 7:30 to 10 a.m. Additional breakfasts will be on July 19, Aug. 2 and Aug. 16. Menu includes eggs, pancakes, bacon, sausage, muffins, donuts, coffee and juice. Cost is $5 for adults and $3 children 5 thru 10. Under 5 are free.

That is all for this week. Have a great 4th of July.

Richard had a nice Father's Day. Kellie Wing, daughter,

Rick Wing, son and Ryan Wing, grandson also Vinny Lima were here for the afternoon on Sunday. It was good to see Ryan as we see him so seldom. We had a nice lunch, played ping-pong and did a lot of talking.

I have been having some more computer problems again. If it did not stand me so much money I would throw it. I also talked with someone in the Philippines about the problem. They have replaced a part and it is working OK for me now.

The Maine State crew is doing a great job repaving a few miles on Route 26 near our home.

Those making the honor roll at TMS whose names I recognize are: Grade six: Jonah Thurlow; Grade seven: Ciara Nadeau; Grade eight: Seth Shimamura; Telstar High School: Bailey Davis, Kara Thurlow,

One day this past week I spent part of an afternoon with Tommy Poland. It had been quite a while since I had visited with her.

the occasion of the 230th anniversary of American Independence followed by the presentation of the colors by the color guard of Bethel's Mundt-Allen American Legion Post. The concert is free and everyone attending is encouraged to bring their lunch and favorite beverage.

The Community Picnic is one of the summer events that are sponsored in part by generous individuals, businesses and the town of Bethel. Listings in The Citizen's weekly Community Calendar are compiled from a wide variety of sources. While we do our utmost to ensure the reliability of the information presented, we recognize that when dealing with such a large volume of material, some inaccuracies will occasionally creep in. And in other cases, a sponsoring organization's plans may change between the time The Citizen is printed and the event is held. Accordingly, we strongly urge our readers to call ahead to verify the details of any event they plan to attend. Doing so will greatly reduce the chance of disappointment or needless inconvenience.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

MORTGAGE LOANS FOR THE SELF-EMPLOYED There is no doubt about it; self-employed individuals have a tougher time qualifying for a mortgage loan than do salaried corporate employees. However, with many new mortgage plans recently introduced, it has become much easier to find and qualify for a good loan, even for those hard-working self-employed persons.

If you are self-employed, there is no reason to shy away from applying for a home mortgage loan, especially if your verifiable earnings have been in the same field for at least two years. Before beginning your search for a house, it is a good idea to meet with a Realtor who can direct you to one or more competent loan officers. The lender will go over your current financial situation and credit history and will probably want to see your tax returns for the past 2 or 3 years. It is a good idea to come to this appointment fully prepared.

Having a loan pre-approval letter from a lender that Realtors can attach to your offer on a home will make you look more attractive to the seller, thus enhancing the Realtor's negotiation clout on your behalf.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

CHARLOTTE PEASLEE

Charlotte Peaslee, 75, of North Yarmouth, died Thursday, June 22, 2006 after a courageous four-month battle with larynx cancer.

She was born in Mexico on Oct. 29, 1930, to Robert Guy West and Isabelle Clark West. She was a graduate of Stephens High School.

On Feb. 1, 1951, she married her best friend and soul mate, Silas F. Peaslee of Andover. Together, with much love and patience, they raised 10 children and were currently raising their granddaughter, Brianna Kane.

Blessed with a love of children, Charlotte bore seven children and adopted three others. She was a foster parent to many children over the past three decades. She was a devoted, selfless mother, and dedicated her entire life to family. She was an inspiration to others, teaching her children morals and the value of never giving up.

Her spirit was unbroken. Struggling for 10 years with COPD didn't stop her from trips for breakfast to Roy's in Auburn, where she loved to meet with her many friends. She also enjoyed shopping for gifts for others.

Her granddaughter, Brianna, brought daily joy, laughter and hope into her life.

She is survived by her husband, Silas of North Yarmouth; two sons, Gary and his wife Janice of New Gloucester, and Douglas and his wife Judy of Buxton; seven daughters, Debora Gellatly and her husband Norm of Auburn, Bonnie Littlefield and her husband David of Portland, Sherri Curit and her husband Moe of North Yarmouth, Charlotte Kane of Lisbon Falls, Ruth Ann Terison and her husband Fred of Falmouth, Patricia Hansen of Yarmouth, and Charlotte Howard of Auburn; 21 grandchildren; 13 great-grandchildren; and three sisters, Pauline Bernard of Mexico, Robertine Patenaude of Topsham, and Lorraine Marston of Andover. She was predeceased by her son, Silas F. Peaslee Jr., on Aug. 25, 2001.

Charlotte will be sadly missed but not forgotten.

A graveside service was held at Woodlawn Cemetery, South Main Street, Andover, Tuesday, June 27, with the Rev. Martha Hoverson officiating. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made in Charlotte's memory to the Maine Cancer-American Cancer Society, 52 Federal Street, Brunswick, ME 04011.

Card of Thanks

Jefferson Lodge #100, A.F. & A.M. of Bryant Pond wish to thank the many firemen, fire companies, brethren and friends who came to our aid last week when our lodge hall was struck by lightning and set on fire. Your fast response and fine training averted what otherwise might have been a great tragedy and loss.

We are very grateful that none of the brethren sitting at lodge when the hall was struck were injured. Thanks especially to our friends at Franklin Grange for allowing us to store our implements and historical artifacts until they could be safely returned to our own Hall.

Your acts of kindness were noble and will be remembered for many years.

Thank You.
The Brethren of Jefferson Lodge #100
